PART IV
DRINKING AND DRIVING

Driving, or being in charge, when under influence of drink or drugs.

62.(1) A person who is unfit to drive through drink or drugs when driving or attempting to drive a motor vehicle on a public place, is guilty of an offence and punishable on summary conviction by a fine at level 5 on the standard scale or a term of imprisonment for 6 months or to both.

(2) Without prejudice to subsection (1), a person who is unfit to drive through drink or drugs when in charge of a motor vehicle which is on a public place, is guilty of an offence and punishable on summary conviction by a fine at level 4 on the standard scale or a term of imprisonment for 3 months or to both.

(3) A person shall be deemed not to have been in charge of a motor vehicle for the purposes of subsection (2) if he proves that, at the material time, there was no likelihood of his driving it so long as he remained unfit to drive through drink or drugs.
(4) The court may, in determining whether there was such a likelihood as is mentioned in subsection (3), disregard any injury to him and any damage to the vehicle.

(5) For the purposes of this section, a person shall be taken to be unfit to drive if his ability to drive properly is for the time being impaired.

(6) A police officer may arrest a person without warrant if he has reasonable cause to suspect that that person is or has been committing an offence under this section.

(7) A police officer may enter (if need be by force) any place where a person is or where the police officer, with reasonable cause, suspects him to be for the purpose of arresting that person under subsection (6).

(8) Where on a person’s trial for an offence under subsection (1) the court finds him not guilty of the offence specifically charged in the indictment, the court may find him guilty of an offence under subsection (2).

Driving or being in charge of a motor vehicle with alcohol concentration above prescribed limit.

63.(1) If a person–

(a) drives or attempts to drive a motor vehicle on a public place; or

(b) is in charge of a motor vehicle on a public place, after consuming so much alcohol that the proportion of it in his breath, blood or urine exceeds the prescribed limit he is guilty of an offence and shall be punishable on summary conviction–

(i) in the case of an offence contrary to paragraph (a) above, to a fine at level 5 on the standard scale, or to 6 months imprisonment or to both; and

(ii) in the case of an offence contrary to paragraph (b) above, to a fine at level 4 on the standard scale, or to 3 months imprisonment or to both.

(2) It is a defence for a person charged with an offence under subsection (1)(b) to prove that at the time he is alleged to have committed the offence there was no likelihood of his driving the vehicle whilst the proportion of alcohol in his breath, blood or urine remained likely to exceed the prescribed limit.
(3) The court may, in determining whether there was such a likelihood as is mentioned in subsection (2), disregard any injury to him and any damage to the vehicle.

(4) Where on a person’s trial for an offence under subsection (1)(a), the court finds him not guilty of the offence specifically charged in the indictment, they may find him guilty of an offence under subsection (1)(b).

Driving or being in charge of a motor vehicle with concentration of specified controlled drug above specified limit.

63A.(1) This section applies where a person (“D”)—

(a) drives or attempts to drive a motor vehicle on a road or other public place; or

(b) is in charge of a motor vehicle on a road or other public place, and there is in D’s body a specified controlled drug.

(2) D is guilty of an offence if the proportion of the drug in D’s blood or urine exceeds the specified limit for that drug.

(3) It is a defence for a person (“D”) charged with an offence under this section to show that—

(a) the specified controlled drug had been prescribed or supplied to D for medical or dental purposes;

(b) D took the drug in accordance with any directions given by the person by whom the drug was prescribed or supplied, and with any accompanying instructions (so far as consistent with any such directions) given by the manufacturer or distributor of the drug; and

(c) D’s possession of the drug immediately before taking it was not unlawful under section 506 Crimes Act 2011 (restriction of possession) because of an exemption in regulations made under section 509 of that Act (authorisation of activities otherwise unlawful).

(4) The defence in subsection (3) is not available if D’s actions were—

(a) contrary to any advice, given by the person by whom the drug was prescribed or supplied, about the amount of time that should elapse between taking the drug and driving a motor vehicle; or

(b) contrary to any accompanying instructions about that matter (so far as consistent with any such advice) given by the manufacturer or distributor of the drug.

(5) If evidence is adduced that is sufficient to raise an issue with respect to the defence in subsection (3), the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not.

(6) It is a defence for a person (“D”) charged with an offence by virtue of subsection (1)(b) to prove that at the time D is alleged to have committed the offence the circumstances were such that there was no likelihood of D driving the vehicle whilst the proportion of the specified controlled drug in D’s blood or urine remained likely to exceed the specified limit for that drug.

(7) The court may, in determining whether there was such a likelihood, disregard any injury to D and any damage to the vehicle.

(8) In this section, and in sections 45B, 63D(1), 63E and 68, “specified” means specified in regulations made by the Government.

(9) A limit specified under subsection (2) may be zero.

Power to administer preliminary tests.

63B.(1) If any of subsections (2) to (5) applies a police officer may require a person to co-operate with any one or more preliminary tests administered to the person by that police officer or another police officer.

(2) This subsection applies if a police officer reasonably suspects that the person–

(a) is driving, is attempting to drive or is in charge of a motor vehicle on a road or other public place; and

(b) has alcohol or a drug in his body or is under the influence of a drug.

(3) This subsection applies if a police officer reasonably suspects that the person–
(a) has been driving, attempting to drive or in charge of a motor vehicle on a road or other public place while having alcohol or a drug in his body or while unfit to drive because of a drug; and

(b) still has alcohol or a drug in his body or is still under the influence of a drug.

(4) This subsection applies if a police officer reasonably suspects that the person—

(a) is or has been driving, attempting to drive or in charge of a motor vehicle on a road or other public place; and

(b) has committed a traffic offence while the vehicle was in motion.

(5) This subsection applies if—

(a) an accident occurs owing to the presence of a motor vehicle on a road or other public place; and

(b) a police officer reasonably believes that the person was driving, attempting to drive or in charge of the vehicle at the time of the accident.

(6) A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to co-operate with a preliminary test in pursuance of a requirement imposed under this section is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction to a fine at level 5 on the standard scale or to imprisonment for 6 months or to both.

(7) A police officer may administer a preliminary test by virtue of any of subsections (2) to (4) only if he is in uniform.

(8) In this section a reference to a preliminary test is to a test described in section 63B.

Preliminary breath test.

63C.(1) A preliminary breath test is a procedure whereby the person to whom the test is administered provides a specimen of breath to be used for the purpose of obtaining, by means of a device of a type approved by the Government, an indication whether the proportion of alcohol in the person’s breath or blood is likely to exceed the prescribed limit.

(2) A preliminary breath test administered in reliance on section 63B(2) to (4) may be administered only at or near the place where the requirement to co-operate with the test is imposed.
(3) A preliminary breath test administered in reliance on section 63B(5) may be administered—

(a) at or near the place where the requirement to co-operate with the test is imposed; or

(b) if the police officer who imposes the requirement thinks it expedient, at a police station specified by him.

Preliminary drug test.

63D.(1) A preliminary drug test is a procedure by which a specimen of sweat or saliva is—

(a) obtained; and

(b) used for the purpose of obtaining, by means of a device of a type approved by the Government, an indication whether the person to whom the test is administered has a drug in his body and if so—

(i) whether it is a specified controlled drug,

(ii) if it is, whether the proportion of it in the person’s blood or urine is likely to exceed the specified limit for that drug.

(2) A preliminary drug test may be administered—

(a) at or near the place where the requirement to co-operate with the test is imposed; or

(b) if the constable who imposes the requirement thinks it expedient, at a police station specified by him.

(3) Up to 3 preliminary drug tests may be administered.

Arrest.

63E.(1) A police officer may arrest a person without warrant if as a result of a preliminary breath test or preliminary drug test the constable reasonably suspects that—

(a) the proportion of alcohol in the person’s breath or blood exceeds the prescribed limit; or
(b) the person has a specified controlled drug in his body and the proportion of it in the person’s blood or urine exceeds the specified limit for that drug.

(2) The fact that specimens of breath have been provided under section 65 of this Act by the person concerned does not prevent subsection (1) above having effect if the police officer who imposed on him the requirement to provide the specimens has reasonable cause to believe that the device used to analyse the specimens has not produced a reliable indication of the proportion of alcohol in the breath of the person.

(3) A police officer may arrest a person without warrant if—

(a) the person fails to co-operate with a preliminary test in pursuance of a requirement imposed under section 63B; and

(b) the police officer reasonably suspects that the person has alcohol or a drug in his body or is under the influence of a drug.

(4) A person may not be arrested under this section while at a hospital as a patient.

Power of entry.

63F. A police officer may enter any place (using reasonable force if necessary) for the purpose of—

(a) imposing a requirement by virtue of section 63B(5) following an accident in a case where the police officer reasonably suspects that the accident involved injury of any person; or

(b) arresting a person under section 63E following an accident in a case where the police officer reasonably suspects that the accident involved injury of any person.

Arrests on suspicion of having alcohol in the body.

64.(1) Where a police officer has reasonable cause to suspect that a person has committed an offence contrary to section 63 (1)(a) or (b) he may, subject to section 67, arrest that person without warrant.

(2) A police officer may, for the purpose of arresting a person under subsection (1), enter (if need be by force) any place where that person is or where the police officer, with reasonable cause, suspects him to be.
(3) In determining whether a police officer’s cause to suspect the commission of an offence contrary to subsection (1) was reasonable, regard shall be had in particular to the following matters—

(a) whether the person was driving or attempting to drive a motor vehicle in a manner falling below what would have been expected of a competent and careful driver. This might include circumstances where a person was driving or attempting to drive notwithstanding that it would have been obvious to a careful and competent driver that driving in that particular manner (or, indeed, driving at all given the volume of alcohol consumed) would pose a risk to life or property by his sense of judgement being impaired;

(b) whether the person was driving or attempting to drive in a manner causing obvious or serious inconvenience to other road users or to pedestrians;

(c) whether the person was driving or attempting to drive in a manner leading a reasonable observer to believe that the driver was not in proper control of the motor vehicle. This might include, for example, unexplained or excessive swerving or braking, inappropriate speed in relation to prevailing road conditions or ignoring traffic signs or signals;

(d) whether the person’s demeanour behind the steering column of a stationary or moving motor vehicle or whilst the person is en route to the vehicle suggests that he was under the influence of alcohol.

Provision of specimens for analysis following arrest.

65.(1) Subject to the provisions of this section and section 67, where a police officer is investigating whether a person has committed an offence contrary to sections 62, 63 or 63A and has arrested that person on suspicion of such an offence he may require that person to attend at a police station or hospital in Gibraltar—

(a) to provide two specimens of breath for analysis by means of a device of a type approved by the Government; or

(b) to provide a specimen of blood or urine for a laboratory test.

(2) A requirement under subsection (1)(b) may be made only by a police officer of at least the rank of sergeant and cannot be made unless—
(a) the police officer has reasonable cause to believe that a specimen of breath cannot be provided or should not be required; or

(b) at the time the requirement is made a device or a reliable device of the type mentioned in subsection (1)(a)–

(i) is not available at the hospital or police station; or

(ii) is not in good working order or has been used on a previous occasion by the police officer and he has reasonable cause to believe will not produce a reliable indication of the proportion of alcohol in the breath of the person concerned; or

(iii) it is for any other reason not practicable to use such a device there, or

(c) the suspected offence is one under section 62 or 63A and the police officer making the requirement has been advised by a medical practitioner that the condition of the person required to provide the specimen might be due to some drug, but may then be made notwithstanding that the person required to provide the specimen has already provided or been required to provide two specimens of breath.

(3) If the provision of a specimen of blood or of urine may be required under this section the question whether it is to be a specimen of blood or a specimen of urine shall be decided by a police officer of at least the rank of sergeant, but if a medical practitioner is of the opinion that for medical reasons a specimen of blood cannot or should not be taken the specimen shall be a specimen of urine.

(4) A specimen of urine shall be provided within one hour of the requirement for its provision being made and after the provision of a previous specimen of urine.

(5) A person who, without reasonable excuse, fails to provide a specimen when required to do so under this section is guilty of an offence and punishable on summary conviction to a fine at level 5 on the standard scale or to imprisonment for 6 months or to both.

(6) A police officer shall warn any person required to provide a specimen under this section that a failure to provide the specimen may render him liable to prosecution.
(7) For the purposes of subsection (1)(a), a device shall be treated as of a type approved by the Government where a statement to the effect is published in the Gazette.

Specimens of breath.

66. Where a person provides two specimens of breath pursuant to section 65, that with the lower proportion of alcohol in the breath shall be used for the purposes of an investigation into an offence having been committed contrary to this Part and the other specimen shall be disregarded.

Protection for hospital patients.

67.(1) While a person is at a hospital as a patient he shall not be required to provide a specimen of breath for a preliminary breath test or to provide a specimen for a laboratory test unless the medical practitioner in immediate charge of his case has been notified of the proposal to make the requirement; and

(a) if the requirement is then made, it shall be for the provision of a specimen at the hospital; but

(b) if the medical practitioner objects on the ground specified in subsection (2), the requirement shall not be made.

(2) The ground on which the medical practitioner may object is that the requirement or the provision of a specimen or, in the case of a specimen of blood or urine, the warning required under section 65, would be prejudicial to the proper care and treatment of the patient.

Detention of persons affected by alcohol or a drug.

68.(1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), a person required to provide a specimen of breath, blood or urine may afterwards be detained at a police station until it appears to the police officer that, were that person then driving or attempting to drive a motor vehicle on a road, he would not be committing an offence under sections 62, 63 or 63A.

(2) A person shall not be detained in pursuance of this section if it appears to a police officer that there is no likelihood of his driving or attempting to drive a motor vehicle whilst–

(a) the person’s ability to drive properly is impaired;

(b) the proportion of alcohol in the person’s breath, blood or urine exceeds the prescribed limit; or
(c) the proportion of a specified controlled drug in the person’s blood or urine exceeds the specified limit for that drug.

(3) A police officer shall consult a medical practitioner on any question arising under this section whether a person’s ability to drive properly is or might be impaired through drugs or alcohol and must act on the medical practitioner’s advice.

Use of specimens in proceedings for an offence under sections 62, 63 or 63A.

69.(1) This section and section 70 apply in respect of proceedings for an offence under sections 62, 63 or 63A.

(2) Evidence of the proportion of alcohol or any drug in a specimen of breath, blood or urine provided by the accused shall, in all cases (including cases where the specimen was not provided in connection with the alleged offence), be taken into account by the court and subject to subsection (3) below, it shall be assumed that the proportion of alcohol in the accused’s breath, blood or urine at the time of the alleged offence was not less than in the specimen.

(3) The assumption in subsection (2) shall not be made if the accused proves that the proportion of alcohol in his breath, blood or urine would have not exceeded the prescribed limit, or, if it is alleged that he was unfit to drive through drink, would have otherwise not been such as to impair his ability to drive properly but for the fact that he consumed alcohol before he provided the specimen and—

(a) in relation to an offence under section 63, after the time of the alleged offence; or

(b) otherwise, after he ceased to drive, attempt to drive or be in charge of a vehicle on a road or other public place.

(4) A specimen of blood shall be disregarded unless it was taken from the accused with his consent by a medical practitioner.

(5) Where, at the time a specimen of blood or urine was provided to a police officer by the accused, he asked to be provided with such a specimen, evidence of the proportion of alcohol or any drug found in the specimen provided to the police officer is not admissible on behalf of the prosecution unless—

(a) the specimen in which the alcohol or drug was found is one of two parts into which the specimen provided by the accused was divided at the time it was provided; and Documentary evidence as to specimens in such proceedings.

70.(1) Subject to subsections (3) and (4) and to section 69(5), evidence of the proportion of alcohol or a drug in a specimen of breath, blood or urine may be given by the production of a document conforming to one of the following descriptions, that is to say—

(a) a statement automatically produced by the device by which the proportion of alcohol in a specimen of breath was measured and a certificate signed by a police officer (which may but need not be contained in the same document as the statement) that the statement relates to a specimen provided by the accused at the date and time shown in the statement; or

(b) a certificate signed by an authorised analyst as to the proportion of alcohol or any drug found in a specimen of blood or urine identified in the certificate.

(2) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), evidence that a specimen of blood was taken from the accused with his consent by a medical practitioner may be given by the production of a document purporting to certify that fact and signed by that medical practitioner.

(3) Subject to subsection (4) below—

(a) a document purporting to be such a statement or such a certificate (or both such a statement and such a certificate) as is mentioned in subsection (1)(a) is admissible in evidence on behalf of the prosecution in pursuance of this section only if a copy of it either has been handed to the accused when the document was produced or has been served on him not later than seven days before the hearing in court; and
