3. All deposits in any post office or other savings bank, or in any other bank, all annuities granted by any person, all debentures or debenture stock of Gibraltar, or any other stocks or funds transferable in the books of any bank, which are standing in the sole name of a married woman and all shares, stock, debentures, debenture stock or other interests of or in any corporation, company, or public body, municipal, commercial, or otherwise, or of or in any industrial, provident, friendly, benefit, building, or loan society, which are standing in her name, shall be deemed, unless and until the contrary be shown, to be the property of such married woman; and the fact that any such deposit, annuity, debentures or debenture stock, or other stocks or funds transferable in the books of any bank, share, stock, debentures, debenture stock or other interest as aforesaid, is standing in the sole name of a married woman, shall be sufficient prima facie evidence that she is beneficially entitled thereto so as to authorize and empower her to receive or transfer the same, and to receive the dividends, interest, and profits thereof, without the concurrence of her husband, and to indemnify the Director of Postal Services, the Financial Secretary and all directors, managers, and trustees of every such bank, corporation, company, public body, or society as aforesaid, in respect thereof.

Stock, etc., to be transferred, etc. , to a married woman.

4. All debentures or debenture stock of Gibraltar, or any other stocks or funds transferable in the books of any bank, and all such deposits and annuities respectively as are mentioned in section 3 and all shares, stock, debentures, debenture stock, and other interest of or in any such corporation, company, public body, or society, which shall be allotted to or placed, registered, or transferred in or into or made to stand in the sole name of any married woman shall be deemed, unless and until the contrary be shown, to be her property, in respect of which so far as any liability may be incident thereto she shall alone be liable:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall require or authorize any corporation or joint stock company to admit any married woman to be a holder of any shares or stock therein to which any liability may be incident, contrary to the provisions of any law, charter, bye-law, articles of association, or deed of settlement regulating such corporation or company.

Investments in joint names of married woman and others.

5. The provisions of sections 3 and 4 as to deposits in any post office or other savings bank, or in any other bank, annuities granted by any person, debentures or debenture stock of Gibraltar, or of any other stocks or fund; transferable in the books of any bank, shares, stock, debentures, debenture stock, or other interests of or in any such corporation, company, public body, or society as aforesaid respectively, which shall be standing in the sole name of a married woman, or which shall be allotted to, or placed, registered, or transferred to or into or made to stand in, the name of a married woman, shall respectively extend and apply, so far as relates to the estate, right, title or interest of the married woman, to any of the particulars aforesaid which shall be standing in, or shall be allotted to, placed, registered, or transferred to or into, or made to stand in the name of any married woman jointly with any person other than her husband.

6. It shall not be necessary for the husband of any married woman, in respect of her interest, to join in the transfer of any such annuity or deposit as aforesaid, or debentures or debenture stock of Gibraltar, or of any other stocks or funds transferable as aforesaid, or any share, stock, debentures, debenture stock, or other benefit, right, claim or other interest of or in any such corporation, company, public body, or society as aforesaid, which is now or shall at any time hereafter be standing in the sole name of any married woman, or in the joint names of such married woman and any other person not being her husband.

Moneys payable under policy of assurance not to form part of estate of the insured.

8.(1) A married woman may effect a policy upon her own life or the life of her husband for her own benefit; and the same and all benefit thereof shall enure accordingly.

(2) A policy of assurance effected by any man on his own life, and expressed to be for the benefit of his wife, or of his children, or of his wife and children, or any of them, or by any woman on her own life, and expressed to be for the benefit of her husband, or of her children, or of her husband and children, or any of them, shall create a trust in favour of the objects therein named, and the moneys payable under any such policy shall not, so long as any object of the trust remains unperformed, form part of the estate of the insured, or be subject to his or her debts:

Provided that if it shall be proved that the policy was effected and the premiums paid with intent to defraud the creditors of the insured, they shall be entitled to receive, out of the moneys payable under the policy, a sum equal to the premiums so paid.

(3) The insured may by the policy, or by any memorandum under his or her hand, appoint a trustee or trustees of the moneys payable under the policy, and from time to time appoint a new trustee or new trustees thereof, and may make provision for the appointment of a new trustee or new trustees thereof, and for the investment of the moneys payable under any such policy. In default of any such appointment of a trustee, such policy, immediately on its being effected, shall vest in the insured and his or her legal personal representatives, in trust for the purposes aforesaid.

(4) If, at the time of the death of the insured, or at any time afterwards, there shall be no trustee, or it shall be expedient to appoint a new trustee or new trustees, a trustee or trustees or a new trustee or new trustees may be appointed by any court having jurisdiction under the provisions of the Trustees Act.

(5) The receipt of a trustee or trustees duly appointed, or in default of any such appointment, or in default of notice to the insurance office, the receipt of the legal personal representatives of the insured shall be a discharge to the office for the sum secured by the policy, or for the value thereof, in whole or in part.

Questions between husband and wife as to property to be decided in a summary way.

10.(1) In any question between husband and wife as to the title to or possession of property, either party, or any bank, corporation, company, public body, or society in whose books any stocks, funds, or shares of either party are standing, may apply by summons or otherwise in a summary way to the Chief Justice or (at the option of the applicant irrespectively of the value of the property in dispute) to the judge of the Court of First Instance, and the Chief Justice or the judge (as the case may be) may make such order with respect to the property in dispute, and as to the costs of and consequent on the application as he thinks fit, or may direct such application to stand over from time to time, and any inquiry touching the matters in question to be made in such manner as he shall think fit.

(2) All proceedings in the Court of First Instance under this section in which, by reason of the value of the property in dispute, such court would not have had jurisdiction if this Act were not in force may, at the option of the defendant or respondent to such proceedings, be removed as of right into the Supreme Court by order of certiorari or otherwise as may be prescribed by any rule of the Supreme Court; but any order made or act done in the course of such proceedings prior to such removal shall be valid, unless order shall be made to the contrary by the Supreme Court.

(3) The Chief Justice or the judge of the Court of first Instance, if either party so require, may hear any application under this section in chambers.

(4) Any bank, corporation, company, public body, or society, shall, in the matter of any application under this section, for the purpose of costs or otherwise, be treated as a stake holder only.

Actions in tort between husband and wife.

11.(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, each of the parties to a marriage shall have the like right of action in tort against the other as if they were not married.

(2) Where an action in tort is brought by one of the parties to a marriage against the other during the subsistence of the marriage, the court may stay the action if it appears –

- (a) that no substantial benefit would accrue to either party from the continuation of the proceedings; or
- (b) that the question or questions in issue could more conveniently be disposed of on an application made under section 10, and without prejudice to paragraph (b) of this subsection the court may, in such an action, either exercise any power which could be exercised on an application under section 10, or give such directions as it thinks fit for the disposal under that section of any question arising in the proceedings.

Married woman as executrix or trustee.

12. A married woman who is an executrix or administratrix alone or jointly with any other person or persons of the estate of any deceased person, or a trustee alone or jointly of property subject to any trust, may sue or be sued, and may transfer or join in transferring any such annuity or deposit as aforesaid, or any sum forming part of the debentures or debenture stock in Gibraltar, or of any other stocks or funds transferable as aforesaid, or any share, stock, debentures, debenture stock, or other benefit, right, claim, or other interest of or in any such corporation, company, public body, or society in that character, without her husband, as if she were a feme sole.

Saving of power to make settlements.

13. Nothing in this Act shall interfere with or affect any settlement or agreement for a settlement made or to be made, whether before or after marriage, respecting the property of any married woman, but no settlement or agreement for a settlement shall have any greater force or validity against creditors of such woman than a like settlement or agreement for a settlement made or entered into by a man would have against his creditors.

Married woman entitled to prior estate to be protector of settlement alone.

14.(1) Where a married woman would, if single, be the protector of a settlement in respect of a prior estate, then she alone shall, in respect of that estate, be the protector of the settlement.

(2) This section applies to all disentailing assurances and surrenders made after the 31st day of December, 1882.

Capacity of married women.

15. Subject to the provisions of this Act a married woman shall –

- (a) be capable of acquiring, holding, and disposing of, any property;
- (b) be capable of rendering herself, and being rendered, liable in respect of any tort, contract, debt, or obligation;
- (c) be capable of suing and being sued, either in tort or in contract or otherwise; and
- (d) be subject to the law relating to bankruptcy and to the enforcement of judgments and orders, in all respects as if she were a feme sole.

Property of married women.

16. Subject to the provisions of this Act all property which—

- (a) immediately before the 1st day of June, 1948, was the separate property of a married woman or held for her separate use in equity; or
- (b) belongs at the time of her marriage to a woman married after the 1st day of June, 1948; or
- (c) after the 1st day of June, 1948, is acquired by or devolves upon a married woman, shall belong to her in all respects as if she were a feme sole and may be disposed of accordingly.

Abolition of husband's liability for wife's torts and antenuptial contracts, debts and obligations.

17. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the husband of a married woman shall not, by reason only of his being her husband, be liable –

- (a) in respect of any tort committed by her whether before or after the marriage, or in respect of any contract entered into, or debt or obligation incurred, by her before the marriage; or
- (b) to be sued, or made a party to any legal proceeding brought, in respect of any such tort, contract, debt, or obligation.

Abolition of restraint upon anticipation.

18.(1) No restriction upon anticipation or alienation attached, or purported to be attached, to the enjoyment of any property by a woman which could not have been attached to the enjoyment of that property by a man shall be of any effect after the 31st day of May, 1962.

(2) Subsection (1) shall have effect whatever is the date of the passing, execution or coming into operation of the law or instrument containing the provision by virtue of which the restriction was attached or purported to be attached.

Savings.

19. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that nothing in this Act

This version is out of date

- (a) prevents a husband and wife from acquiring, holding, and disposing of, any property jointly or as tenants in common, or from rendering themselves, or being rendered, jointly liable in respect of any tort, contract, debt or obligation, and of suing and being sued either in tort or in contract or otherwise, in like manner as if they were not married;
- (b) prevents the exercise of any joint power given to a husband and wife.
